How the Contestants Stand.

Much interest is being taken in the contest for the Piano and other prizes to be given away by the CAMPBELL INTERURBAN PRESS. There is yet time for others to enter and stand an equal opportunity of earning these gifts. Send the PRESS to your eastern friends and relatives, or have them subscribe and let the credits be applied to the one desired. Let us see how many new subscriptions can come in this week. What young man will enter the contest for the scholarship? How they stand:

LELIA OLIVER..... 2230    BETH KENNEDY..... 1000    MARY CLARK ..... 900    AVENEL BRANDENBURG..... 200

...THIS IS THE PIANO... Some Young Lady Will Get.

Given Away by the "Interurban Press."

READ! ON MARCH 4, 1905, the day the President will be inaugurated, we propose to give absolutely FREE OF COST to the lady who secures for us the largest amount of money for subscriptions or advertising to the CAMPBELL INTERURBAN PRESS a beautiful Golden Oak Curtaz Piano, costing $325.00, now on exhibition in our show window. It must be seen to be appreciated.

To the young man or lady, boy or girl, who brings in the second largest amount we will give a $50.00 Scholarship Course in the Pacific Coast Business College.

To the young man or lady, boy or girl, who brings in the third largest amount we will give a beautiful solid Silver Hair Brush and Comb in a neat case.

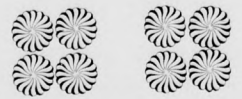

To the young man or lady, boy or girl, who brings in the fourth largest amount we will give a fine French Plate Hand Mirror.

WHO WILL WIN THE
$325 CURTAZ PIANO?

Now As to the Plan Every subscription to the PRESS of $1 will count as 100 credits, and you can subscribe for as many years as you wish and have 100 credits for each subscription placed to the credit of any of the young lady contestants. Every advertisement secured for the paper will be governed by the same rule. A dollar a month ad. will count for 100 credits; a two dollar ad. 200 credits, etc. Paid locals will count the same. Credits given for every penny turned into this office between now and March 4th, '05. We want young men and young ladies in the outlying districts to go to work for the PRESS, as well as in town. How can you earn such valuable premiums more easily? An hour or two a day from now on may do it. The contest will be conducted in a perfectly honest and honorable manner and all parties going to work can depend on it that they will be treated absolutely fair. Come in and get the necessary information. Let us explain the plan to you.

NOTE--Those who have paid anything since the PRESS started either for back subscriptions or in advance, or for advertising, are entitled to come in and have their credits counted.

PRESS NOTES

The Interurban railroad will have a switch on the Meridian road near the blacksmith shop.

The W. C. T. U. is arranging for union temperance service at the Congregational church, Sunday evening, Nov. 27.

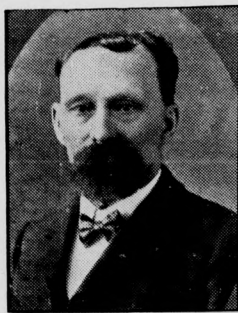

The Campbell show windows are beginning to have the appearance of city show windows. Nothing attracts like well kept stores.

During the year ending June 30, 1904, the state of California paid out for the care of its orphan and half orphan children the sum of $480,278 82.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Campbell will leave Friday on a visit to Mr. Campbell's brother, David, at Porterville, intending to be gone about ten days.

L. Nattinger & Son have repaired and painted their fruit drying house on Leigh avenue. It is situated in the midst of a thriving orchard section and bids fair to be one of the best packing houses in the county.

Services Sunday at the Congregational church, morning and evening. Usual talk to boys and girls. Tuesday, Nov. 22, is the council of churches, and ministers

An exchange says: We feel sorry for the man who does not read his home paper. He is no better than a man without a country. He is like a homeless cow, that has no regular pasture, but grazes promiscuously on weeds and this tle. No matter what other papers he may read, the straightforward citizen always insists on having his home paper.

California may well be proud of her goats. C. P. Bailey of San Jose, swept everything before him at St. Louis in that line at the livestock show. He was awarded the grand champion prize for a buck, sweepstake prize for finest flock bred by an exhibitor, a gold medal for winning the most prizes of any breed, and another for winning the most prizes of any exhibitor. He took twenty-five prizes in all.—Herald.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. ### The Youth's Companion in 1905.

It is impossible even to summarize in a single paragraph the many and varied attractions which the Youth's Companion announces for the coming year. A series of articles planned to interest especially the forty-five millions of Americans who look directly to the soil for their subsistence will treat of "New Field's for Young Farmers," "The Sanitation of the Farm," "The Future of American Cotton," "How Women Make Money on the Farm," etc.

Seven serial stories and 250 short stories by the most talented and popular American writers of fiction will form part of the contents of the new volume for 1905.

Full illustrated announcements describing the principal features of the Companion's new volume for 1905 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

The new subscribers who send $1.75 now for a year's subscription to the Companion receive free all the issues of the Companion for the remaining weeks of 1904, also the Companion's Calendar for 1905, lithographed in twelve colors and gold. THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

WE'LL ride on the Interurban cars Thanksgiving Day.

DON'T think that the railroads have no rights. Judging from things we hear, some people think there is only one side to the corporation question.

WHEN those palms are planted on east Campbell avenue it will make one of the prettiest streets in the county. And that triangle park will help to set it off. Let us have it.

It is a matter worthy of note that the towns in Santa Clara county that have recently incorporated have gone ahead by leaps and bounds. If you don't believe it go down and take a look at Mountain View, Mayfield and Palo Alto. Campbell must be the next in line if it is to take its place among the towns of the county—the place it should have.

It appears now that Central avenue, through to Hamilton avenue, will be a much traveled street, now that the cars are running on east Campbell avenue and the Infirmary road. It will be one of the main outlets to San Jose. Cannot a stretch of sidewalks and street ornamentation be arranged for that thoroughfare? Uniform shade trees with well kept sidewalks will make that one of the prettiest streets in town.

DID you ever see a town so free from vice, rowdyism and the undesirable people as Campbell? It is a matter that we should congratulate ourselves over. This town costs the county very little for police duty, yet we are contributing through taxes our share just the same. Two justices and two constables to keep Santa Clara straight while this end of the township seldom sees one of those officials, mainly because we don't need them.

JUDGING from the vote on the constitutional amendments, it would appear that all that is necessary to get an amendment carried is to get it on the ballot. The only one defeated was that one exempting shipping from taxation, and if the Examiner had not punctured that it would probably have gone through, too. In the main the amendments were all right, but the one exempting the Academy of Sciences from taxation should have been defeated.

WE propose that a Woman's Improvement Club be organized to work in conjunction with the Board of Trade to aid in beautifying the town. In the matter of furthering the cause of better street and yard decoration, more modern architecture, and many other things, the ladies are indispensable, and a club of this kind would be of immense service to the town. As we are about to become a real suburb of San Jose, let us be one that the Garden City can point to with pride on account of our well kept streets, sidewalks, gardens, modern architecture, beautiful shade trees, etc. Who will start the ball rolling?

ONE of the needs of Campbell is a road leading directly west from the depot through the north side of the Campbell Fruit Growers' Union yard, through the Campbell Water company's yard to First street, thence through J. H. Campbell's and P. C. Curtis' orchards to the school, connecting with Rincon avenue. That would give those taking the train and those hauling fruit to the drier a direct route west. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Curtis are ready to open a road through their places if the county will grade the same, and we understand the water company is also favorable. If the Union will now aid the project along we could soon have a much needed thoroughfare, besides opening up a new territory for settlement. All the land between the town proper and the school should be placed on the market for settlement.

BEAR in mind, republicans of Palo Alto, that it is to your interest and the interests of your party to vote for Frank Mitchell for supervisor. Do not give the control of county affairs over to the democratic party by electing a democrat to represent this district.—Palo Altan.

While Mr. Mitchell will make a splendid supervisor, the paragraph is amusing. Say, Mr. Palo Altan editor, are you so party-bound that you can't see any good in any man except he belongs to your party? Did you ever hear of John Roll, the present chairman of the board? Well, he is a democrat. Ask the supervisors throughout the state what kind of an official he is. Come to Campbell and ask our good republicans why Roll gets so large a majority of the votes in this strong republican precinct, when he runs for office. Did you ever hear of J. S. Whitehurst, Roll's predecessor, and J. S. Selby, Stern's predecessor? They were democrats and the very best kind of supervisors. You have been kicking because you had no good roads in that end of the district and that your supervisor (Knowles) would do nothing for you. Was he not a republican and has not the board of supervisors been republican for 10, these many years? There is entirely too much partisanship in county affairs. You have now got a good supervisor and we trust you will get what is justly yours, but "honest injun," don't you know that Farrell would have made an ideal supervisor? The county has an able board and we are lucky indeed.

THE supreme court has just rendered an opinion sustaining Judge Rhodes in declaring C. R. Williams legally elected over Thos. Treanor, for county recorder at the election two years ago, notwithstanding the fact that Treanor won out by 600 votes. But through the fact that the democrats had no candidate for county surveyor and as they wanted to help out McMillan some 600 placed an "X" opposite "No Nomination" in the democratic column, thinking no doubt they were voting for McMillan. This the court has construed as being a distinguishing mark. Shame on such injustice. We have nothing against Mr. Williams, but if he takes the office through a technicality when beaten by 600 votes he kills himself politically in this county. Treanor found the office in a jumble and has spent his two years' salary in putting the office in good shape by adding new appliances and in legal expenses incident to holding the office to which he was legally elected. And now after paying the running expenses for two years we will no doubt witness the remarkable spectacle of Williams coming in and suing the county for two years' back pay, while Treanor has paid the deputies and done all the work. W. F. Parker is doing that very thing, and if he has not consigned himself to the political graveyard we miss our guess. When men are honestly elected why in the name of common sense turn them out on a mere technicality, and subject the county to two salaries? If that is good law it isn't justice by a long way, and the voters should remember these things when they vote. But will they? for they have returned to the bench Judge Rhodes, who, while trying those election contests, showed himself to be very much biased. So much so that it was common talk at the time.

BEING THE "SCHOOLMARM."

[The following sketch was composed by a young lady who formerly lived in Campbell. The first article appeared in the Visitor (now suspended), and the series will be continued in the PRESS.]

EDITOR INTERURBAN PRESS:—

The keeper of the office of the stage company proved to be a thin morsel of humanity with one defective eye and a habit of pretending not to understand and snapping one up. The whole performance seemed to be carried on with the intention of impressing one with the importance of himself and position. He said that the outside seat was taken, that the stage would stop at the hotel and that I might possibly have time to get my breakfast, all in a tone of voice which implied that he expected me either to refuse to pay my fare or rob the express box.

After hastily eating a ten-cent breakfast for fifty cents, I rushed out in time to see the stage drive up to the door. It was built throughout of the heaviest material and looked decidedly as though it had seen active service. The man who held the reins was a typical stage driver—tall and muscular, with a firm-set mouth and a "I don't care" expression. His overalls had drawn away from his feet as far as they could and covered only part of the tops of his heavy boots; a blue jumper that had seen better days, and a much slouched light hat completed his costume. Now, when I saw that jumper I thought it the dirtiest thing in the world, but before the fifty seven mile ride into Weaverville came to an end I began to realize that I had never really known what dirt was, and wasn't therefore in a position to judge. Indeed, I began to wonder how it happened to be as clean as it was.

Fate and the stage manager put me in the same seat with a drummer of ample proportions. It had never been quite clear to my mind why drummers were always—well, to put it mildly, plump; but by the time I had bumped up against this one about a thousand times I began to appreciate the kindness of providence in making them so. Behind us sat two middle aged men from some of the many mines of the county, who were returning from a visit "below," which to a resident of Trinity county applies indefinitely to any part of the world outside its boundaries. On the back seat sat an old gentleman with a thin gray beard and only one arm, who was returning from the exposition, and a precise eastern lady who was coming into the country to keep house for her brother whose wife had inconsiderately died and left him with a family of small children. A man and his wife occupied the seat of honor with the driver. After we were all settled, the stage rolled around to the postoffice to take up the mail. A number of sacks were piled on top, and the lady asked "Do you always have as much mail as this?" That stage-driver had learned the value of making a good impression, in his youth, for his delightfully noncommittal answer was, "Sometimes we have more." By the time we passed out of town and along the Sacramento river we knew something of each other's destination.

"You'll come out of there in a coffin, that's what you'll do," said the drummer when I answered where I was going.

"You wanted to come to the mountains? You will surely feel that you are losing ground in such a place," murmured the maiden lady from the east as she settled her collar. Encouraging? Yes, but the old gentleman chimed in, "Of course it will be hard, but you'll get along all right. I live in Weaver myself;" and one of the bachelor miners joined in, "Every one will be awfully good to you in the camp." He certainly knew whereof he spoke.

The driver was perched up on the seat almost over my head, and as soon as we were fairly started he turned his head and twisted his neck until he could look under the stage top directly at me. I didn't know exactly what etiquette required me to do in the matter, so I looked straight ahead. After repeating the stare he deliberately took out the register and looked up my name, and then took another look at me with an expression which seemed to imply that he considered us acquainted. I'll never be quite sure whether I was expected to shout my name at him when he looked around and save him the trouble of looking it up, or not.

The dust simply rolled up in great billows when the wheels sank into a rut, and we grew browner and browner. Some of it got into my throat along with the fog that I took in around the bay, and my voice departed entirely. Just imagine a woman—a schoolmarm, too—not being able to speak! I hope you aren't thinking what a relief for the other passengers. When the drummer sympathized, I managed to croak out something to that effect and he gallantly denied it, so who are you to lift a voice against his decision?

We passed through historic old Shasta, now only a shadow of what it was in the days of prosperity when the gold fever of our state was at its height. On one of the crumbling buildings still hangs the weather-beaten sign, "Mines bought and sold," in silent testimony of the days when fortunes were made or lost so lightly. The belle of the town, at least my seatmate said he thought she was, stood by the postoffice door diligently teasing a mangy looking dog with a stick. I had grave suspicions that she came to see our stage-driver. The rush of the town seemed to have all departed and a brooding silence enveloped it. The belle told the man who was seated on a soap box in front of the store, of a house that had burned down the night before and of the narrow escape of the inhabitants. "Yes," he drawled, "you don't say? Well, people can just expect a fire most any time this hot weather," and cast a slow glance at the dog who had at last succeeded in getting the stick.

Mile after mile passed through those great dust heaps, and still we grew dirtier. The driver turned around, and touching my dust-covered waist with his whip, remarked that he'd think I'd be ashamed to wear such dirty clothes. I gathered from his general expression that that was a joke. At noon we reached French Gulch and stopped half an hour for dinner. They brought us feather dusters to brush off with and the drummer and I dusted each other in good brotherly style. I asked for salt and water for my throat and he said, "If you would be willing to try brandy for it, I'll get some for you." I thanked him and said that I would experiment with salt.

After dinner we found that our baggage had been transferred to a smaller stage and that we had lost our two miners from the interior. I was agreeably surprised to find what fine horses they use on the stages. They were all big and strong and they changed the four-horse team five times during the fifty-seven mile drive. The road winds over big mountains and through the roughest of country. During the afternoon the driver remarked that he'd won a quarter on me, anyway, and explained, "I bet a fellow two-bits this morning that you was a schoolmarm, and he said you wasn't. O, I can tell them every time." I am still wondering what he judged by.

We passed a large branch of the Trinity river and saw a whole family going down fishing. The father and mother, with two babies, were in a dilapidated old wagon drawn by a mule and horse, one of whom limped and the other stumbled along. Two girls, about twelve years old, were dressed in overalls and followed on one horse, and a half grown boy walked behind the procession. My seatmate hastened to assure me that that was just the way I would find the children of my district doing, but I told him I hoped they would for I should go with them.

About eight o'clock we reached Weaver and the drummer lifted what was left of me out tenderly—so tenderly, indeed, that as I followed the landlady to my room in the hotel, she asked, "Was that man who came in the stage with you your husband?" While I was catching my breath her brother, who was bringing up my grip, exclaimed, "No, of course not!" Now, how did he come to know? Like the stage driver, he must have been blessed with wonderful powers of intuition. When I introduced myself and said that I was going over on the head of New River to teach school they opened their arms to me, figuratively on the brother's part, of course, and did everything possible to make things pleasant for me. "Can't I get you something for your throat, and you have had such a hard trip; let me bring you up a glass of beer," was asked, but as I declined, lemon and sugar was substituted for the beer. I began to seriously wonder if my appearance led people to suspect that I was a hard drinker.

I found that by hiring a livery rig to take me the seventeen miles to North Fork where Mrs. Ladd, the lady with whom I was to board, had arranged to have her sons meet me, I could have a day in Weaver. I called on Miss Fox, the county school superintendent, who was very nice, indeed, to me, and talked over plans for my work. Altogether I had a very pleasant day. It is true that when I started out to see the town I found myself in Chinatown before I had gone many steps and when I hastily turned and went the other way I found myself in the suburbs where the cows were feeding on the rocky hillsides among the scattered pines. IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara.

Josephine Hicks, Plaintiff, vs. John Hicks, Defendant.

Action brought in the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county of Santa Clara, and the complaint filed in the office of the clerk of said county of Santa Clara.

The People of the State of California, send greeting to John Hicks, defendant. You are hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county of Santa Clara, said complaint being now on file in the office of the clerk of said county of Santa Clara, within ten days after service on you of this summons—if served within the county of Santa Clara, or within thirty days after such service if served elsewhere.

And you are hereby notified that unless you so appear and answer as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

Given under my hand and the seal of the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county of Santa Clara, this 3d day of October, A. D., 1904.

[SEAL.] HENRY A. PEISTER, Clerk.
By A. C. RUSS, Deputy Clerk.

Santa Clara Valley Water Company.

Notice to Stockholders of Santa Clara Valley Water Company.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT in accordance with a resolution of the Board of Directors of Santa Clara Valley Water Company, a corporation, which was duly adopted at the regular meeting of the said Board of Directors, held on the 5th day of November, 1904, a special meeting of the stockholders of Santa Clara Valley Water Company will be held on the 14th day of January, 1905, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of that day at the office of the Santa Clara Valley Water Company, at Campbell, in the county of Santa Clara, State of California, in the building known as F. E. Duncan's residence, that being the principal place of business of the office of said company, and the building where the Board of Directors usually meet; for the purpose of taking into consideration and acting upon a proposition to create a bonded indebtedness to the amount of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000), and to provide the terms and conditions thereof, and everything else in relation thereto; to the end, and for the purpose, of providing means and raising moneys to pay existing indebtedness and indebtedness to be incurred in the construction and completion of its works and the acquisition of new properties, works and facilities within its corporate powers and within the purposes and objects of the corporation.

Dated this 7th day of November, 1904.
[SEAL.] C. H. WHITMAN,
Secretary of Santa Clara Valley Water Company.

Editor Hurlbert on a Jaunt.

The editor of the PRESS made a trip to Palo Alto, Mayfield and Mountain View Wednesday to gather data relative to incorporation of Campbell, going at the request of the Board of Trade. Boarding the 8:36 train he enjoyed a pleasant chat with Dr. A. E. Sparks, who makes daily trips to Alameda. At Santa Clara he changed to the broadgauge and from there to Palo Alto was in company with Hon. Nicholas Bowden, candidate for superior judge, who was able to get from under the republican landslide without any trouble and who is well satisfied with his vote. He believes no democrat could have been elected this year in this county.

At Palo Alto Editor Simpkins, the first town clerk, was hunted out and much valuable information was secured. When Palo Alto incorporated it had no larger assessment roll than is proposed for Campbell—something like $300,000 of taxable property—but now has the distinction of being the second largest town in the county. Marshal Black, J. J. Morris and C. E. Childs were interviewed and these men possess the kind of vim that makes things hum. An extended tour of Palo Alto showed very good streets, and cement walks, well kept yards and lawns along which are houses of beautiful architecture, which are a pride to the city, and may well be patterned after.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Childs, we secured an appointment by telephone with Prof. Clark, president of the board of town trustees of Mayfield. After an interesting spin on the wheel through the mammoth new stone gateway to the university and drinking in the wonders of the university surroundings, Prof. Clark was hunted out on College terrace. It was a half hour well spent, for the Professor knows the incorporation question from A to Z, having just passed through an exceedingly interesting and difficult task of incorporating Mayfield—a town long steeped in sin that it is a marvel that it has taken such an advanced step. The Professor is a great believer in incorporation and new Mayfield is pointed to as an argument.

Editor Woodruff was next induced to unbosom what he knew along municipal lines, and then he took ye scribe to Clerk Myrick, who was very kind in furnishing valuable information. After partaking of dinner with the genial Republican editor the new $35,000 water works was inspected. The plant is just being put in and Mayfield is to have a splendid system, of which more will be said later on.

Taking the train from Mayfield, where we had the pleasure of meeting Principal Rubell's son, who works at the depot, we were soon in Mountain View. Here Bank Cashier Walter Clark gave us additional information and Judge Burns, the father of the town, added much more valuable data, as did "Jake" Mockbee and the genial pharmacist, Becker. No discordant notes in Mountain View as to the benefits of incorporation, and one only has to see the town to be convinced of the benefits to that town, at least. New buildings are springing up everywhere and a general feeling of prosperity is in evidence on all sides.

Editors Copeland of the Leader, and Smith of the Register, the paper ye scribe first worked on in California, were next visited; then, after bidding many friends of fifteen years standing, good-bye, we boarded a San Jose train to run down some ads.

A busy day, but a most profitable one, and if our business men could have been with us there would be no danger but that Campbell would at once incorporate after seeing and hearing of the benefits.

Everyone Likes Santa Clara Prunes.

Prof. C. W. Childs, who has lately returned from the east, says the Mercury, had a fine opportunity while in charge of the prune demonstration at St. Louis to find out the status of the California prune with the people of the country. He interviewed thousands and asked them which way they liked prunes, the cost of them in their own towns at retail, the way of distributing, etc. He found out that outside of the large cities nobody gets them under 12½ or 15 cents a pound, usually 40s to 70s mixed. Not only did everyone who tasted them at the fair like our prunes, but in the various cities that Mr. Childs visited, having been obliged to leave St. Louis with his wife, and having gone through the states of New York, Michigan, Indiana, Virginia, Kentucky and elsewhere, he found the same to be true, and was even surprised to find how widely the Santa Clara valley fruit is known.

A grocer in New York told Mr. Childs that he sells our prunes only in the holidays, but if he could sell at 8 or 10 cents he could have a steady demand for them. People would buy them freely in 1, 2 or 3-pound packages, but they sugar if put up in paper packages here. The process through which they are put before being boxed, Mr. Childs is led to conclude, is not a good thing to help the sale of the fruit, as the prunes mould in about six weeks. Such was his experience with what he had at St. Louis. On the other hand the prunes he got unprocessed kept good right along. "What eastern dealers want," said he, "is a steady supply of unprocessed prunes in sacks or 50-pound boxes. Then if they wish to put them into small cartons or boxes the goods will be fresh and will keep."

No Disease in Japanese Army.

The Japanese army engaged in shooting the Russians is teaching the rest of the world how to live. The great lesson of the war is that death from disease incident to campaigning can be prevented. Major Louis Seaman, a military medical man back from Japan, read a paper before the Association of Military Surgeons at St. Louis that contained some marvelous information. When Japan began to prepare for fighting the greatest attention was paid to the medical department. A great Japanese medical authority said the Russians may put 2,000,000 in the field. Many of them will die from army life disease. Japan will put 500,000 men in the field. None will die from other causes than collision in battle.

Up to July 1st there were no diseases in the Japanese army. There were no typhoid and other intestinal diseases that marked the camps of Alger, Chickamauga and Milan during the Spanish-American war. During our war with Spain seventy per cent of the soldiers that perished died from disease. Two hundred and sixty men were killed, and 3,862 died in camps.

Up to July 1st the proportion of Japanese soldiers dying from disease to those killed was two per cent. The Japanese have abolished sickness from the army.

They did it, Dr. Seaman says, by testing all water to be used for drinking. The soldiers were lectured on the proper foods to eat. The smallest squad has its portable bath. So thorough are the Japanese that the soldiers are directed to keep their finger nails closely pared and clean.

Of the thousands returned wounded to Tokio before July 1st not one died. There are no fever camps, as there were in this country six years ago.

Thus, Japan saves all her troops for the bullet. The "silent foe," says the military observer, claims none.

The peaceful nations can learn from Japan that disease is a matter of neglect.—Examiner.

Not A Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles and general debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50c, at P. F. Farrington's, druggist.

PRESS NOTES

Mr. Roemer was in San Francisco today.

Cranberries, mince meat and boiled cider at Beattie's.

Russell Kennedy made a business trip to San Francisco today.

Fresh cranberries for Thanksgiving sauce at Wm. Beattie's.

H. J. Robinson is making improvements to his residence east of town.

Colonial Flour—none better. William Beattie is sole agent for Campbell.

Mrs. Call returned last Saturday from a six weeks visit in San Luis Obispo.

F. W. Clayton and family have rented the house just vacated by R. L. Holmes and family.

Mrs. Call and Miss Virginia Call entertained a few friends on Tuesday evening with "500," in honor of Miss Bracher.

F. W. Clayton has gone into the express business and will make regular trips between Campbell and San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Holmes, two daughters and son, Harvey, left today for Pacific Grove, their future home. Sorry to lose them from Campbell.

A new road is to be cut through J. H. Campbell's and P. C. Curtis' orchards, connecting First street and Rincon avenue. This new road will pass on the south of the public school grounds, giving the town another road to the west, something very much needed.

The Orchard Irrigating company (Page Ditch) are at work on their ditch through Campbell. At present an excavation is being made along the east side of the railroad from Campbell avenue north to receive the 48-inch iron pipe. The ditch will also run across Campbell avenue and passing through the park will run south, connecting with the other pipe line south of the depot. This will give the company two large ditches through town leading to the north.

A pleasant afternoon party was given to Miss Charlotte Davis last Saturday by Mrs. M. E. Luther, at her home on North First street. The guests were a few of the young lady friends of Miss Davis, who is soon to go east for a protracted visit. An agreeable surprise to the guest of honor was the "shower," which in this case consisted of dainty handkerchiefs and neckwear arranged in a shower bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Delicious refreshments were no small part of the enjoyment of the afternoon.

While practicing football at Stanford Wednesday morning W. H. Beattie, son of our townsman, Wm. Beattie, broke his leg just above the ankle. The editor of the PRESS happened to be passing through the campus from Stanford to Mayfield at the time and witnessed the accident, but did not know at the time who the young man was that was hurt. The injured young man was taken to Santa Clara where Dr. Beattie, his uncle, has the patient in charge, who at this writing is getting along as well as can be expected. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie were at once notified and they hastened to Santa Clara to see their son.

HEARD ON THE STREET.

—That we are to have our telephone service extended.

—That the present postmaster's term expires next month.

—That Charles Lewis is a crack-a-jack at playing "Flinch."

—That there is no time like the present to subscribe for the PRESS.

—That some of the boys are not afraid to show their red cards now.

—That the electric light company has a lead pipe cinch on the Campbell patrons.

—That there are some extensive building and business improvements in store for Campbell.

—That Al. Howe has looked as if Jeffries had hit him, but it was only a bad case of poison oak.

—That George Whitney has nothing to say since he joined the Masons, but it is said he thinks a great deal.

—That some of the voters have ordered larger hats since the result of the election at Campbell has been made known.

—That Perry Farrington stayed just one two-minute round in the garden scene of "The Man Behind the Hoe."

—That Dr. Hartman has been trying the "Tom Sawyer" act this week in an effort to get the weeds hoed from around his residence.

—That some of our people will take advantage of the Interurban cars to go to San Jose to buy goods that can be purchased as cheap at home.

That some Campbell people are mourning the loss of $'s through the newspaper experiment, the first time it has ever occurred in the history of Campbell.

Thanksgiving Day Car Ride.

SAN JOSE, CAL., NOV. 15, 1904.
Mr. E. C. Hurlbert, Editor Interurban Press, Campbell, Cal.:

DEAR SIR—You can make statement in your paper that we will start the Interurban road as far as Campbell on Thanksgiving Day, November 24th. As for the publishing of the time tables, I will see you later about that.

Yours very truly,
F. E. CHAPIN, Gen'l Mgr.

As will be seen by the above announcement the Interurban cars will begin running on Thanksgiving day. This will be good news to our people. The cars will only run as far as Campbell for the present. The work along the road is now practically completed to this town, except the new bridge over the Los Gatos creek.

The bridge crew are now at work driving creosote piles and will complete the work as soon as possible, but the building of the bridge will not interfere with the running of the cars. The length of the new bridge will be 90 feet and while much cheaper than concrete or steel will last for some twenty years without repairs.

The "Y" placed on Central avenue by the depot is finished, and this will allow the cars to reverse here for the return trip.

No doubt the cars will be well patronized on Thanksgiving day.

Why I Am in Favor of Incorporation.

Because, I believe that we have citizens and residents among us who own homes, property and interests, who better understand the needs of our community, and who can and will administer our town affairs better than can be done by strangers living remote from us.

Because, all the money now paid out in road tax and other taxes, amounting to nearly $2,500 per year, would be kept at home and spent in our town, instead of being sent away and expended elsewhere, as is done under the present system.

Because, this $2,500 would go directly into the pockets of the workingman who lives in Campbell, thus giving him a better opportunity of earning his living.

Because, it will increase our population, increase our property values, increase business, give increased employment and greatly add to the appearance of our town.

Because, the law has placed a safeguard against high taxes by making it impossible for the trustees to levy a tax rate in excess of 75 cents on the $100 valuation for town purposes, thus insuring low taxes.

Because, there can be no additional tax levied without the consent of two-thirds of the voters.

Because, outside capital will become interested in our town if we incorporate, otherwise it will not.

Because, it makes non-resident property owners pay their just portion of taxes for the improvement of our town.

Because, nearly all surrounding towns are incorporated, are growing rapidly and improving in a much greater proportion than is Campbell; for instance, Santa Clara, Palo Alto, Los Gatos, Redwood City, San Mateo, Boulder Creek, Mountain View and Mayfield.

Because, our trustees will be chosen by the voters from among our best business men, who will serve without salary, thus insuring us a clean administration of affairs.
